The regular season ends on Thursday. If you want to enter a team, you need to do so before the first game which is Saturday at 5pm I believe. You will pick 10 position players and a team which you think will gain the most points in the playoffs. If you have entered a team before, you should have gotten an email inviting you. If not, use the link I shared with your teachers. Or you can log in to officepools.com with username `omirwin2025` and password irwinice. You will have to create an account and then do your picks.
